

Miss Chelsey Baker

An icon of the modelling world and entrepreneur of the business world

M My meeting with an icon of the modelling world and entrepreneur of the business world, Miss Chelsey Baker.

Today was a great day because I Natasha Booth was meeting one exceptionally talented lady, to carry out a photo shoot for the magazine. I contacted Chelsey one late evening by email asking if she would like some coverage of a project she is involved in, in the next issue of FaceOn Magazine. The message could have been so much more professional and correct but it was about 1am. I never expected a reply as I thought my complete lack of grammar had blown it. Not so, as I had such a warm and charming response back from Chelsey. I was quite staggered, but none the less got straight back to her about the magazine. Chelsey then rang me, my heart was excited but my mind was thinking like Del Boy of 'only fools and horses' 'Play it cool Trigg, play it cool'. Our conversation was in depth and left me buzzing as we were arranging a photo shoot for the following week. Our original plan was to carry out the shoot at my studio in Maldon, but plans changed and I needed a more regal environment. Light bulb, my parent's house. I get on the phone and as the amazing parents they are, they agree with the wonderful offer of a spot of lunch too.

The day arrives and I have had Make up ideas whirling through my mind, along with poses and hair styles. Chelsey draws up the driveway in a stunning car that seems to be gliding down the small stoned drive. We hug and have a few brief words and then make our way in side. We start straight away with make up, which will be done soft to start and get more intense as we go on. First pictures will be on the basis of Audrey Hepburn, hence the regal stature of the shoot. Chelsey is one of those ladies that I can only wish to be like in the future, mainly because she is so captivating and down to earth, its beauty down to tee. We press on most of the day and I captured some amazing shots of the icon, that I can only describe as, perfection. As the day carries on the makeup gets slightly heavier and darker. Chelsey is a chameleon, by way of suits almost everything. I went from pale lipstick to dark, light eyes to glamour and all styles looked beautiful. Some models you work with are hard work as you have to nurture them almost to get a shot. As you can imagine I had no problems with Chelsey. By the end of the shoot I felt in awe of this fine lady and also a bond. This bond is one of rare proportions and also unexplainable

What you need to understand is the stature of this lady to really put all this article into context, below is just a few facts about Chelsey you may not know, Chelsey is/has Published writer, TV Presenter, model and entrepreneur,

Was born in Ascot, Berkshire, The Muse for celebrity designer Charles Svingham,

Attended The London College Of Fashion,

Has modelled for Lejaby, Le Bourget, Mexx,

Writes for a wide variety of businesses on the stock market and property market.

Writes also for numerous magazines which include a column in America and Vicinitee and The City Magazine in London.

Has appeared in, commercials, films and a Bollywood film.

Is writing a book "Success for Life", - The definitive blueprint on how anyone can succeed in life and in business to gain wealth, happiness and lasting success, due to be published this year.

Launched "The Advert Channel" on SKY which propelled her into media spotlight with the worlds first 24hour TV station dedicated to showing adverts as a form of entertainment, art, culture and from a creative angle. Then followed the hugely popular "Your Destiny TV", Britain's first ever live Psychic TV channel, the show aired for two weeks on SKY.

Contributes an immense amount of time helping and advising other entrepreneurs through speaking at business events, mentoring and is regularly asked to speak at awards ceremonies.

Advises many Blue Chip companies and consults to some of the leading names in television.

Creator of "The City's Top Model Entrepreneur" setting a benchmark for women in business. Richard Farleigh, popular dragon from BBC TV's "Dragons Den", has joined Chelsey's innovative new event. It's an intoxicating mix of business and fashion, an exciting cocktail made up of two great passions shared by most successful women in business.

There is so much more to Chelsey Baker than a beautiful face and sophistication, she holds so many qualities that most woman can only hope to possess. Brains, beauty, tact, honour, down to earth, fun, business minded, genuine and most of all an amazing friend. In this business you have to almost have Rhino skin as so many people want a piece of you and your success. Some people may not have wanted to know me at the start of my adventure, and I can say the same for almost everyone I know, but now I am on the top of some peoples lists. Hard work, determination and being yourself is what CAN get you where you want.

My day with Chelsey was in my top ten of amazing days along with memories of my Marilyn Monroe day out in LA when I was 12 (my idol). I can only wish the success continues for the outstanding Chelsey Baker.

